

Biographical Information

Scott Forester

Division Vice President

Marketing & Innovation Products, Corning® Gorilla® Glass
Specialty Materials

Scott Forester was appointed division vice president, Marketing and Innovation Products, Corning® Gorilla® Glass, in April 2017. In this role, he is responsible for leading Gorilla Glass product line management, commercial operations, and branding functions in support of the mobile consumer electronics market-access platform.

Prior to his current role, Forester was responsible for commercial execution of new Gorilla Glass innovation products targeted in consumer electronics. Prior to that, he was the program manager for 3D-shaped Gorilla Glass, focused on handheld, tablet, and IT applications. He led a multi-disciplinary team responsible for defining the commercialization, technical development, and overall manufacturing strategy for precision shaped Gorilla Glass.

Forester joined Corning in June 1997 as an applications engineer in the Telecommunications Products division. Following this, he held several roles in Corning Optical Fiber including account management, sales development, global product line pricing, and commercial strategy. He also served on the corporate executive staff before joining Corning Specialty Materials in 2011.

Forester holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Rensselaer and a Master of Business Administration degree from Cornell University. Prior to joining Corning, he served in the U.S. Navy.
